

Editor's Note

In the name of Allah, the most Merciful, the most Beneficent

We are happy to present the Volumes 10th & 11th of IIUC Studies containing 15 (fifteen) Articles on different dimensions. However we regret to mention that we could not maintain the sequence of timeframe with the serial of the volumes of the Journal. This is due to our policy for being much conscious about ensuring the quality of the articles published within the cover pages of the Journal, for which sometimes one article is needed to be sent even to the third reviewer. Sometimes we face with some unwanted situation from the reviewers like reluctance in reviewing the articles, doing undue late or regretting after long time. Any way this is not the normal situation.

We express again our strong commitment to employ our utmost efforts for maintaining the balance between the sequence of time and the serial of the volumes.

IIUC Studies is a multidisciplinary and multidimensional Journal where the scope for publishing articles on different disciplines is wider. Out of the articles being published in this volume 5 (five) articles are on Literature and Linguistics, 3 (three) articles are on Business and Finance, 4 (four) articles are on Legal Issues, 2 (two) are on Religious Sciences and 1 (one) is on Sociolinguistics.

We do encourage the authors with proper aptitude and potentiality for doing research work in different fields of knowledge and branches of scholarship to contribute to IIUC Studies regardless of the condition of affiliation with any particular institution, belief or point of view, being from within the country or beyond. However, the works related to ideas and thoughts, critical appreciation and constructive analysis of any existing system, thought or philosophy which can bring changes in the society towards the betterment are especially appreciated.

May Allah give us the best of Tawfique.

(Prof. Dr. Abu Bakr Rafique)

Chief Editor, IIUC Studies

International Islamic University Chittagong